STORY PREMISE

Six Gates anchor Aetherion, a world shaped by Resonance: the force linking matter, memory and magic. Five are known; the sixth is connected to Silence. As powers from a buried age return, rival civilizations and sacred orders face discoveries that threaten their understanding of creation. Varakos and the Living Gate embody the possibility of remaking that creation. But correcting everything could erase the imperfect world in which love, error and growth remain possible. The conflict reaches beyond who should rule Aetherion to whether anyone should remake it.
